

Community First.

At Stateson Homes, the well-being of our homeowners, employees, and neighbors is and will always be our first priority. As we navigate the current situation, we're taking extra steps to support our entire community and to keep our doors open for our homebuyers and neighbors in need.

For our homebuyers...

We're working hard to help you take advantage of today's historic low rates. That means we're taking the necessary steps to ensure our models are clean and ready to tour by appointment. We invite you to call now to schedule a tour of any of our model homes. We'll meet you at the model and you can browse on your own, or if you prefer, with our assistance. Of course, we'll adhere to the suggested guidelines for social distancing when touring together.

We can also help you start the process online with 3D virtual tours on our website, as well as video chats and FaceTime calls with our Sales Managers and Preferred Lenders.

Our team is here for you. So reach out, give us a call, and we'll help you figure out the next steps towards your new Stateson home.

For our neighbors in need...

We're grateful to those working on the front lines to help protect our entire community and we realize that not everyone has a strong support system right now.

To help support vulnerable populations throughout the New River Valley and Roanoke Valley, we're making a financial contribution to the United Way. Our donation will specifically aid in their efforts to collect non-perishable food, disinfectant cleaners, and household paper products.

We hope you will join us by contributing what you can to support our neighbors in need. For more information about the United Way and to donate now, please click here.

For our entire Stateson community...

At Stateson Homes, we've always believed that great homes are built from the community up. And we couldn't be prouder to be part of the larger New River Valley and Roanoke Valley communities.

Our doors remain open for our homebuyers, for our friends and neighbors, and for those who need our support the most.

Reach out. Give us a call. We'll get through this together.
